The document contains a color chart with various RAL (Rahmenleitfaden) codes. The chart displays a range of colors in different shades, indicating the RAL color standards. Each color is associated with a specific RAL code, which is typically used in industries requiring precise color specifications.